

The Anger Spotter

Think of a recent situation when your child was angry that you did not handle well.

What was the situation?

What did you say in response to your child's anger, and what did that teach them about their anger?

How similar or different do you think this is to the messages you received about anger as a child?

From what you have learned in this program, how could you emotion coach this situation?

