

L.O. Mixed grammar questions on Room 13

For both this and the week's writing task, you will need to read the opening chapter of Robert Swindells' Room 13.

- 1) Punctuate this sentence accurately:

while fliss walked along the high road above the sea the waves were breaking on the cliffs below

- 2) Tell me about the sentence above. Copy your newly punctuated sentence and classify the words (identify the nouns, verbs, adjectives, connectives/conjunctions, prepositions). You'll need to leave a line space in order to get your labels in.
- 3) What are the subjects and objects of both parts of the sentence?
- 4) How does the sentence 'She didn't want to walk past but she had no control over her feet', make the reader feel? Use the text to suggest why you think she has no control.
- 5) Re-write this sentence in the present tense and future tense and as a question.

Fliss walked along the high road.

- 6) Change from indirect speech into direct speech.

Fliss said that she was so scared.
